

"Aqualisa is one of the UK's most successful shower manufacturers. From the introduction of our revolutionary bi-metallic thermostatic shower valve in 1977 to the launch of the first Digital shower in 2001, we have always been renowned for quality, innovation and service."

Aqualisa's products focus heavily on quality and design aesthetic. From standard exhibition stands to more creative display spaces Saxon have worked closely with Aqualisa's marketing team to create engaging and memorable marketing experiences.

Quote from Client – Janet White – Marketing Communications Manager

"Aqualisa has worked with Saxon Design for the past 5 years on a variety of projects from large-scale trade events to Grand Designs and even delivering a bespoke working showroom at our head office - within an unbelievably short timescale. They have proved to be more a partner than a supplier offering, inspiration, flawless execution and excellent support in all situations. I have no qualms in recommending Saxon Design to anyone looking for an agile, smart and highly professional company to support their exhibition or display requirements."

