

Telephonics Corporation, a world leader in fully integrated, advanced sensor and communication systems technology serving Aerospace, Defense and Commercial markets. Whether it is in the air, on the sea, or on the ground, our electronic systems are on board to ensure the safety and security of thousands of military personnel and civilians worldwide.

Saxon Design have been providing Telephonics with stand and chalet design and build since 1998. From integrated product displays to fully functioning entertainment spaces Saxon have developed a relationship with Telephonics that means we have become as much a partner as a supplier.

Quote from our client – Carrie Petrocca – Sr. Manager Corporate Communications, Telephonics Corporation.

"Saxon Design acts as an extension of the Telephonics tradeshow team at Farnborough and Paris Air Shows. Ben and his team understand the message we are sending and deliver a quality product each time. We are proud to be on the winning team with Saxon Design and so will you be."

